Referred to as "America's Ambassador on Success," Steve Gallegos is a Personal Mastery Strategist, International Keynote Speaker, Emcee, best-selling and award-winning Author residing in Dallas, TX.

Through lessons learned as a U.S. Marine Sergeant, Police Officer, Singer-Songwriter/Recording Artist, Board Certified Civil Trial Lawyer, and published Commercial Photographer, Steve is uniquely qualified and committed to guide others to grow and prosper so that we may all contribute to society at a much higher level. Known as a "Rule-Breaker" and "Fun-Maker," Steve teaches, inspires, and guides his executive level clients, how to achieve personal transformation in 90 minutes...or less!

While many personal development experts promote the existence of a "secret key" to happiness and success, Steve says this is a lie. "The truth is that happiness and success is already a part of what we are, and is not something we have to chase. If we simply look all of the things we had to overcome to get to where we are today, we will realize how remarkable we are. Once we make that realization, our need to find that secret key, simply fades away."

His recent best-seller "How to Live Remarkably: Proven Strategies to Solve Your Problems, Make Better Decisions, and Eliminate Stress" was awarded 1st place in the prestigious International Latino Authors Awards, and earned him a Quilly Award from the National Academy of Best Selling Authors.

Steve is the President, of Sonoma Joint Venture Partners, an organization which identifies and forms strategic partnerships between complimentary businesses so that their products and services can reach a wider global audience.
